Promoting a diverse environment among the Evans Community

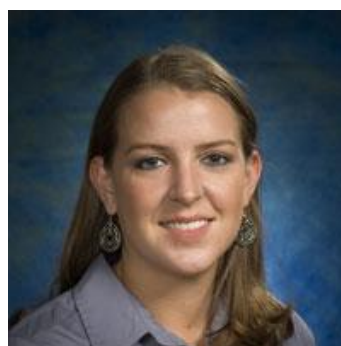

Efrain Gutierrez (President) is a 2nd year MPA student at the Evans School with special interests on global governance, US-Mexico relations and sexual orientation policy. He was born and raised in Capilla de Guadalupe Jalisco in Mexico. After thinking of joining his family in the U.S. when he was 18 years old he decided to study and stay in Mexico. He graduated from Universidad Panamericana with a B.A. on International Business. From 2003 to 2008 he worked for the U.S. Consulate General in Guadalajara, Mexico. During that same period he also worked at Universidad Panamericana teaching courses on international affairs. When he is not trying to fix the world Efrain is in his “hood” Capitol Hill running in the park, drinking coffee, eating Thai food.

Adam Sherman (Vice President) graduated Western Washington University with degrees in International Business and German. He then decided to take that experience and apply it to the Peace Corps where he worked with small business owners in Mali, West Africa. After three years of sweat and dirt he returned to the Pacific Northwest where he miraculously survived his first year at the Evans School. While he tries to spend a significant amount of time at the law school, the Evans School will always be his home! When not punishing himself in the academic world, Adam enjoys getting schooled on the basketball courts at the IMA, finding bizarre food to eat, and trying to reconcile quantum mechanics with the theory of relativity!

Angel Ip (Treasurer) is a 2nd year concurrent MPA/MS student with the School of Environmental Health. She earned degrees in Biological Sciences and Environmental Studies with minors in Chemistry and Economics at the University of Pittsburgh. Her focus at the Evans School is in environmental policy and international development. She has study abroad and biological field training in Yellowstone National Park, wetlands, most of Europe, and the Norwegian Arctic in Svalbard where she reached as far as 80 degrees North! Angel currently interns for the King County Department of Natural Resources and has previous experience with schools, arts, and environmental non-profit organizations. Angel grew up near Philadelphia, cheers for Philly and Pittsburgh sports teams, loves performing arts, rock

Shannon Marsh (GPSS Representative) graduated with degrees in Political Science and History from the University of Kansas, then joined Teach For America and spent two years wrangling inner-city middle schoolers in Memphis, TN. After all the blues, barbeque and leading her kids to the academic heights, "Miss Marsh" decided to move to the Pacific Northwest and earn an MPA to further her goals of one day helping fix the US education system. In the time she's not schooling, working, volunteering or ESO-ing, she loves to sing, swim, bike and hike.
